

The 2009 training course brochure from St John Ambulance is out now

St John Ambulance is the UK's leading first aid and health and safety provider and is able to advise and support you to find solutions to your health and safety and first aid training needs.

Our highly flexible services are tailored to suit individual business budgets, taking the hassle out of delivering training solutions and allowing your organisation to focus on its core business activities.

Our 2009 training course brochure is out now and gives information on our scheduled health and safety courses; all of which have ISO 9001:2000 accreditation. We can also run all our courses within your venue if it is suitably equipped for training.

For your free copy of the St John Ambulance 2009 training course brochure call 08700 10 49 50 or visit: www.sja.org.uk.

A Christmas gift of first aid training could make a difference

With the Christmas present buying season nearly upon us, many of us will still be racking our brains as to a suitable present for our friends and family. So, for those of you who are seeking inspiration and are fed up with buying the same old clothes, scents and novelties buy a St John Ambulance first aid training course place instead. It could help preserve the greatest gift of all – life. Call 08700 10 49 50.

213 words